

Communication for a safer workplace.

If employees aren't aware of your safety program, then the program can't do its job. Staples' Annual Safety Survey revealed some key gaps in employee awareness and opportunities to spread vital information.

17%

of office workers say their workplace does not communicate safety plans effectively

Announce & Advise

13%

of workers said they never receive safety tips

28%

of office workers don't know if they have a safety expert on site

Introduce the Experts

23%

of workers don't know who handles safety-related products and planning at their workplace

Communicate Closures

46%

of workers have traveled to work at a time when they felt unsafe doing so

20%

of professionals say they receive last-minute notification (or none) about office closures
